WWI: Because they cover nearly 98 percent of the male population between 18-45 years old, WWI draft cards represent a tremendous resource for genealogists. Digital images of WWI draft registration cards are online at Ancestry.com, Findmypast.com and the free FamilySearch.org.

Start by entering your ancestor's name and likely residence at the time of registration.

Example: Henry Aloys Theising, Sr.: free FamilySearch.org, Military

See also Workbook Draft Records.pdf (NOT researching Civil War as Grandfather was not born until 1892).

WWII: For the most part, WWII registrations of young men (born from February 1897 to July 1927) have not been publically released due to privacy concerns.

Example: James A. Montgomery, Sr.: free FamilySearch.org, Military: can find.

James A. Montgomery, Jr.: can't find.

John Y. Montgomery.: can't find.

(Fire in St. Louis Records Center. See Military Records 1 and 2)
